MARKET PLACE

The Thanjavur marketplace, influenced by the Chola dynasty, features traditional Dravidian architecture with narrow streets, arcades, and intricately decorated facades, blending historical and cultural elements with modern adaptations, while providing a climate-responsive, community-centered commercial hub.

Key Elements: The marketplace's architecture is highly responsive to the local climate. Features like high ceilings, ventilated roofs, and shaded walkways help in managing the tropical weather conditions, ensuring a comfortable environment for users.
